PLEASE SUBMIT ALL CORRESPONDENCE AND PROPOSALS VIA E-MAIL DIRECTLY TO THE PROCUREMENT CONTACT LISTED ABOVE AND INCLUDE ‘ECONOMIC IMPACT ANALYSIS’ IN THE SUBJECT LINE.
The Port of Tacoma and the Port of Seattle are soliciting proposals from firms interested in conducting a comprehensive analysis of the economic impacts derived by the activities related to each port. The report would include individual sections that analyze the impacts of each port within its specific county, the Puget Sound region and the State of Washington. Additionally, a third section of the study would assess areas of shared economic impact in the Puget Sound region and the State of Washington. Specifically, the report would include sections that detail:

1. The economic impact of the Port of Tacoma within Pierce County, the Puget Sound region and the State of Washington.
2. The economic impact of the Port of Seattle within King County, the Puget Sound region and the State of Washington.
3. The areas (e.g. container business) of shared economic impact in the Puget Sound region and the State of Washington.

The results of the economic impact analysis will be used in a variety of ways to advance the individual and shared work of each Port. The results of this study will serve as the foundation for communication with the general public, media and elected officials about the critical role of the Port of Seattle and the Port of Tacoma in our state’s trade economy. Additionally, this information will inform business proposals, grant requests, and permit submissions, etc. so it is imperative that the methodology used in this study is transparent, sound and consistent with past studies. The methodology in this study must also reconcile and complement the methodology employed by other economic impact analysis studies conducted by port consultants and externally within the maritime sector.

A. BACKGROUND

BACKGROUND – Port of Tacoma:

The Port of Tacoma’s Mission is: Deliver prosperity by connecting customers, cargo and community with the world.

The Port of Tacoma is one of the top 10 container ports in North America and handles more than $34 billion of trade per year in containerized cargoes, RO/RO, bulk, breakbulk and heavy-lift cargoes. The Port encompasses about 2,400 acres of land. Facilities include marine terminals, on-dock rail yards, handling equipment, and industrial property with warehouses, docks and other amenities available to lease or develop.
As a special-purpose government, the Port’s policies are set by a five-member elected Port Commission. The Port Commission selects a Chief Executive Officer to manage the Port’s day-to-day operations. In 2012, the Port Commission approved a 10-year Strategic Plan that sets forth targets and measurements for future growth. Conducting periodic economic impact assessments is an integral tool to measure the Port’s progress in executing the strategic plan and achieving its mission of delivering prosperity. The Port’s most recent comprehensive economic analysis was based on 2004 data.

BACKGROUND – Port of Seattle:

Mission: The Port of Seattle is a public agency that creates jobs by advancing trade and commerce, promoting industrial growth, and stimulating economic development.

The Port is comprised of three operating divisions: Aviation, Seaport, and Real Estate.

The Aviation Division manages the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport, located on 2,800 acres sixteen miles south of downtown Seattle. The Port has invested approximately $3.9 billion in capital improvements at the airport since 1999. Sea-Tac is the 15th largest U.S. airport as measured by total passengers and has relatively high originations and destinations traffic compared to other large airports.

Seaport facilities encompass approximately 1,200 acres of moorage and cargo-related facilities. The Seaport also owns a fully automated grain terminal and general purpose maritime facilities. The Seaport also operates two cruise vessel terminals with a total of three berths. In addition, the Seaport leases industrial property connected with these cruise, cargo, and factory trawler fishing businesses.

The Real Estate Division manages the Port’s holdings in commercial real estate and other property for industrial development, recreational marinas, and the industrial fishing terminals that are the home port for the North Pacific factory trawler fishing fleet. This division also manages a numbers of parks and public access areas.

The Port’s policies are set by a five-member Commission elected at large by the voters of County for four-year terms. The Port Commission appoints the Chief Executive Officer to manage the Port’s day-to-day operations. In 2012, the Port Commission approved a 25-year Strategic Plan called the Century Agenda that sets forth targets and measurements for future growth. Conducting periodic economic impact assessments is an integral tool to measure the Port’s progress in executing the strategic plan and achieving its mission of delivering prosperity. The Port’s most recent comprehensive economic analysis was based on 2007 and 2008 data.

Background-Contract

The Port of Tacoma anticipates awarding one (1) contract. Contract effort will include a defined effort and additional related work may be added. This work will be more detailed oriented and address specific aspects of the generally defined scope of work. Additional work must be approved by the Port of Tacoma prior to work commencing. Proposals submitted and/or the selected Consultant(s) may be used for projects of similar type and scope at the sole discretion of the Port for up to one year. The initial period of performance will be for one (1) year, with one additional one (1) year renewal. The Port of Tacoma’s Standard Terms and Conditions are included as Attachment B to this RFP. By submitting a Proposal, the Proposer represents that it has carefully read and agrees to be bound by the Port’s Standard Terms and Conditions.

SCOPE OF WORK:

The following list reflects data points for measurement that are required in the comprehensive economic impact analysis. The ports will seek feedback from the consultant on these, including the relative costs for capturing the information and their recommended prioritization. The ports are also interested in other key data points the consultant may believe are pertinent and important to include in such a study.

- Number of jobs related to each port’s activities, reported by County, Region and State.
  - Differentiation of job types, numbers and average wages (e.g. industry sectors, permanent vs. construction).

- Return on Investment to Local, County and State
  - Determine statistic indicating $1 taxpayers invest = $ returns.

- Economic impacts per Line of Business
  - Economic impact per loaded container (import/export).
  - Jobs/revenue impact in terms of import, exports and aggregate (commodity shipped, commodity tons shipped).
  - Economic impact of the cargoes moving through each port to and from Alaska (annual $ value).

- Origin and Destination
  - Capture the value/types of import/export cargo that flows through each port based on origin and destinations delineated within and outside the State of Washington.

- Port of Tacoma:
  - Economic impacts per acre of port-owned property
  - Market Values/Revenues: drawing from market analysis, develop comparables relevant to Port Real Estate and Commercial ventures: bare land lease rates for waterside and upland sites; lease rates for improved lands; improvement values based on site infrastructure and amenities (rail served, roadside access, waterside access, communications, utilities, etc.).

- Development cost estimates (citing maritime development comparables).

- Port of Seattle:
  - The study should analyze and document the economic impacts such as the direct, indirect and induced impacts of the Port in terms of jobs, business revenues, local purchases, personal earnings and state and local taxes. The study should also quantify the impacts associated with “users” of the Port’s facilities. Many businesses may not be “dependent” upon the Port of Seattle but they are regular users of its facilities and therefore accrue benefits because of the facilities. They study should also address the quality of jobs supported by Port related activities and include the economic sectors and commodity groups for each of the activities.

  - The impacts should be presented for each of the Port's three major operating divisions: Aviation, Seaport and Real Estate. Additionally, the Port is looking for a breakdown of the impacts for Marine Cargo Activity, Fishing Fleet Facilities, Recreational Boating Facilities, Maritime Passenger Facilities, Port-owned Industrial and Commercial Real Estate, On-site Activity at Sea-Tac Airport, and Visitors’ Activity via Sea-Tac Airport. We are also interested in the geographic distribution of the impacts by city and county for each of the operating divisions.

Communication Reference Points:

The ports seek guidance from a consultant in identifying statistics and other reference points for illuminating the data in the study in order to ensure this information can be readily utilized for public outreach, grant requests, etc. The RFP should contain examples of how the consultant has worked with other ports or organizations to identify and use highly leveraged data points.

Port of Tacoma
Guidelines for Consultant Fees and Reimbursable Items

General Considerations

These guidelines are intended to assist consultants in developing fee proposals; exceptions may be appropriate for the particular scope of work and should be specifically negotiated.

Rates and multipliers will remain in effect for the contract term unless renegotiated and agreed to by both parties in a written change order.

No overtime rates of pay will be paid.

Hourly Rates And Expenses

The Port expects that the proposed hourly rates or multiplier of hourly rates include all routine overhead and internal expenses of the consultant. Inclusion of expenses in the hourly rate or multiplier reduces the amount of backup documentation required to support each invoice and expedites payment.

The Port expects that the proposed hourly rate includes the equipment, tools, software and supplies required to perform the work.

Hourly rates should be identified for all classifications anticipated to be itemized on the consultant’s invoice.

Reimbursables

The Port will reimburse the following expenses at cost (when appropriate backup is provided):

1. Printing of review and final sets of deliverables; all deliverables shall also be provided on formatted disk at no additional charge.

2. Postage/shipping cost for deliverables

3. Film development

4. Mileage at current IRS rate

5. Long distance telephone charges

6. Computer disks

Project field supplies consumed in the work will be reimbursed at cost plus negotiated markup.

Unless specifically negotiated, the Port will not separately reimburse the firm for routine overhead and internal expenses, including:

1. Computer software or hardware usage

2. Graphics supplies or plotter use

3. Digital camera or batteries usage

4. Communications (except long distance) including: Cell phone rental; Fax transmissions; and routine postage or courier.

5. Routine reproduction or copying, except for deliverables (see reimbursables)

Lab Samples and Analysis

The unit price should include analytical costs. Sampling should be scheduled to ensure that results are received when required at normal turnaround rates. 24-hour or rush turnaround rates will be paid only when specifically requested by the Port. Lab services provided by a third party will be reimbursed at cost plus negotiated markup.
Subcontracted Services

When specifically negotiated with the Port, subcontracted services will be reimbursed at cost plus negotiated markup.

Invoice Format Guidelines

Invoices must be numbered in a format that shows the firm’s unique sequential numbering system for invoicing.

Invoices should show description of work items being invoiced, work order number, Contract number, title of project, total authorized, total current invoice, balance of contract, individual’s names and titles, hours at hourly rate, authorized expenses itemized with backup. When applicable, the invoice must show the percentage completion of each task within the scope of work. Payment will not exceed the percentage of work completed.
